Jewish World Watch (JWW), a leading organization in the fight against genocide and mass atrocities, invites university sophomores, juniors, and seniors to apply for the Rabbi Harold M. Schulweis Social Justice Fellowship. With the support of JWW staff, you will learn about and promote JWW’s mission through social media, advocacy actions and fundraising. You will also participate in the planning and implementation of on-campus JWW tabling and events. Learn to educate others, influence legislators and build the anti-genocide movement.

This is an unpaid internship but includes an all-expense paid trip (airfare, hotel, food, registration fee) to the Lemkin Summit in Washington, DC. (Fall) and the Los Angeles Genocide Prevention Summit (Spring).

The ideal candidate is:

- Concerned about social justice, human rights, and anti-genocide activism
- Eager to learn advocacy techniques, community organizing strategies and event planning basics
- Interested in promoting JWW’s mission and vision on campus and inspiring others to action

Fellows are required to participate in the following activities:

1) Mandatory Orientation meeting
2) Development/implementation of on-campus events and “tabling” focused on JWW’s issues and advocacy.
3) Attendance at Lemkin Summit in Washington, DC.
4) Planning for and implementation of JWW Genocide Prevention Summit (LA)
5) Fundraising
6) Promoting and attending Jewish World Watch Los Angeles Walk to End Genocide
7) Participating in periodic one-on-one telephone or in-person meetings with JWW staff members and conference calls/in-person meetings with the full Fellowship cohort

Interested? Applicants for this highly competitive Fellowship will be accepted on a rolling basis with candidates selected to ensure that there are multiple Fellows on each participating campus by October 1st. To apply: Please send a resume and cover letter, answering the following seven questions, to amy@jww.org ASAP.

1. Why do you want to be a Rabbi Harold M. Schulweis Social Justice Fellow?
2. Have you had any prior experience with Jewish World Watch?
3. How would you mobilize your campus around anti-genocide issues?
4. Who are you already connected to, or would like to work with on campus, that could help you achieve success as a Fellow?
5. Have you organized/participated in fundraising activities? What was that like for you?
6. Tell us about an event that you helped organize or participated in that was really inspiring to you.
7. What is a special skill, personality trait or interest that you have that makes you the best candidate for the position?

If you have any questions, please contact Amy Cecil at amy@jww.org or 818.501.1836.
